We hope no detail of all I remembered, but in reday that Mr. Wallace and I went home he (Wallace) asked me about my recollection of the matter, and as I had nothing to occupy me, I gave him a full detail of it, the substance of which he published in this weeks paper. As I do not want anything I have said to do injustice to any one, I here state in my own way and language all I remember about the petition. Mr. Frank Spurlock, who was at the time my partner, told me one morning when I came to the office, that he had signed my name to a petition which was all right, in a few minutes afterwards, some one came to my office and presented another copy of the paper for my signature, which I did not sign, giving as a reason that my name was to another paper. Thus far I am positive, and my recollection is that it was D. F. Wallace that presented this paper, but about this I could be mistaken, as my recollection is not clear on that point. Very much desiring all differences between our home papers to be satisfactorialy settled, and to see them join hands and make a common battle for the general good of the country,

PINE BLUFF, March 12, 1880. To the Editor of the Standard:

Send one copy of your paper one year to R. M. Bradshaw, Pine Bluff, Warren county, Tenn. More next week.

I learn the rail road work is being pushed, wet or dry. They have cars in use in the Miller cut, hauling three yards of earth to the car, and seem to be moving material very satisfactorily. When the driver "whoops up" the car mule going is to the cut, the sound at a distance makes "us country people" think of "sure enough" cars rolling by at an early date. The firm of Juo. F. Fletcher & Co. is very popular with our people, and we wish them such speed, early completion of road and financial success.

Candidates for county patronage are be ginning to shake hands with the populace. Lively contests looked for generally. As for sheriff-Steakley "agin" the field. Mud Creek has had a "fullness" this week, and to date retains much of the same. Mr. Cashdollar, of White, organized singing school last week (12 lesson session) in this (3rd) district; thirty or more lassies and lads are in attendance, mastering the vocal scales. Where will our depot of this section of the rail road be located? If the Engineer corps will look over the surrounding country, looztice, farms, wealth, roads, &c., the desirable point will be about James Petit's

DIBRELL, March, 14, 1880.

To the Editor of the Standard: There is nothing of special news in this part of the county just now. However, Mr. L. P. Evans began his spring session at Bluff Springs on last Monday, with very flattering prospects for a good school. We learn from Capt. John W. Bass, that Eld. Rob't. Keaton entered school on the first day with the determination to acquire for himself a liberal education. We are glad to know that the old man has come to this determination, and it ought to encourage the young to take hold | disorder the false. with renewed energy. The little boys may laugh a little at the sight of as old a man as the Eld. is, (which is about 50), starting to or greater progress than many others that M.'s part, appears plainly in his teachings have had greater facilities. He has lived throughout, long enough to see and realize the need of

The turnpike question is advancing slowly but harmoniously so far as we have been informed. Many of the citizens are highly in to Smithville, and we would think strange of any man that would not, provided he had ly set forth. The chosen are the true and in the condition that they have been in for culiar people, are the foolish builders. sponse to your question I answered the past few days. Then let us all along the about what you published. Just a little exertion upon the part of all our good citizens would make us a good rond. It would wonderfully improve our lands lying along said road, then let every one go to work with a great lesson, but the reader will see how it may be applied.

Rev. J. M. Walters, without regard to the great lesson and are greater of action with road, then let every one go to work with a determination to build said pike.

Farmers are beginning to complain on account of the rain; the plow, and most of the farm work is at on ebb for the past few days owing to the great amount of rainfall. We would advise our farmers to be patient, a wise and beneficial providence knows what is best, the clouds will be dispelled and the sun will visit us again with his warm and radiant rays.

A WORD TO FARMERS.

To the Editor of the Standard : The past few weeks have been productive of many suggestions, as to the hows and wherefores, all relative to the excessive wet weather and impassable roads.

Certainly the most obtuse observer can not fail to see the great necessity for good turnpike roads, and bridges. As things are now, the farmer can not market his produce, no matter what the advance in price, but must wait the drying up of the roads, and subsiding of the streams.

How much more would it be to his advantage to pay a little toll and have the benefit of good roads, bring double the amount and in less time, saying nothing of wear and tear of stock and wagons, besides when too wet to plow, could take advantage of the wet and bring his produce to market; taking the advantage of good weather to work his farm. Go to work and build good roads, you will not only add to the value of your land fron 10 to 20 per cent., but will add that much more to the material wealth of your county. Now is the time to keep the ball in motion. Let every portion of the county agree to ask for a charter and form a company having shares at not over $25, so any one can become a stock-holder, and no doubt the corporation of McMinnville will take a liberal amount of shares in each road. The county will no doubt build bridges and become to that amount stock-holder in each road. Do not let the present boom pass.

The Two Builders-The Wise and the Foolish.

This is the substance of the great Lesson And as a singular coincidence, our ministers preached as follows on Sunday.

Rev. R. J. Craig took Nehemiah vi. 3. "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot be the Christian's work. the true work, and the interference of the enemy to be the 'false' work. Here we have the true and the false the wise and foolish builders; the good tree, and the corrupt.

Rev. M. B. DeWitt had his subject presented to him in an anonymous letter and is as follows: "The place or condition Heaven; the place or condition Hell." His text was Matt. xxv. 46,

"And these shall go away into everlasting punishment; but the righteous into life

He argued that Heaven is a place-a delightful place; that Hell is a place-a miserable place; that Heaven is a state of perfect holiness, and that hell is a state of sin; that Heaven is the blissful home of God and angels, and all saints, and Hell is the eternal, dismal prison of the Devil and his angels and all unrepentant sinners.

Here also appeared the true and the false, the wise and the foolish builders, and the good and evil trees, with their fruits. Heaven is the place of the true, Hell, of the false. As to the location, he said nothing had been revealed, and hence nothing great lesson, and any concert of action with the others, took for his text, John viii. 37,

"If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." Here the great teacher makes the distinction between men, those who thirst, and those who do not, the true and false, the wise and unwise builders. The character invited and who accepts is the true and wise one, the one who refuses is the unwise one. The invitation is not limited, nor the power to save, it is whosoever will, and whosoever will not. He who wills, builds wisely; he who wills not builds foolishly.

We have given the above to show the coincidence in the teachings of the different pulpits in town, on one day.
